Prison Behavioral Consultant

(12-month secondment opportunity with possibility of extension)

Salary (£17,161 - £24,646) plus London weighting

Foundation 4 Life (F4L) is a London based Community organization providing therapeutic interventions and support services to disaffected young people with emotional and behavioral difficulties placing them at risk. We specialize in working with individuals who have complex needs and lead high-risk lifestyles including those affected by gangs, serious youth violence and sexual exploitation.

We have recently formed an innovative partnership with Lifeline Project, a national charity that supports individuals, families and communities affected by drug and alcohol issues.

From July 2013, Lifeline and F4L will deliver a new service within HMP YOI Isis (Greenwich, London). The service will be for sentenced males, aged 18-25 years, with drug and alcohol problems. The partnership will offer a creative and holistic psychosocial service, addressing needs as part of wider lifestyle change. F4L will provide bespoke support for those individuals within this service who have involvement or association with gangs.

F4L are seeking to employ a Prison Behavioral Consultant, to be seconded to work within the new service. They will provide transitional support for beneficiaries from within custody, through the gate and as part of their resettlement back into the community. The successful candidate will hold:

- Understanding and experience of the complex needs of offenders within the prison and community;
- Experience of delivering and coordinating effective offending behaviour interventions;
- Clear, professional and personal boundaries to work within this unique and challenging environment;
- Knowledge and understanding of gangs and serious youth violence issues within London and or experience of working with young people involved or affected by gang related activity.
